- AGATE AVAILABLE IN ASSORTED COLORS -

Agate is a banded form of finely-grained microcrystalline quartz. The brilliant color patterns and banding make this translucent gemstone very unique. Agates have many distinctive styles and patterns, but each agate is unique. No two agates are the same.

C2 49 Fluorite

FLUORITE
Fluorite (also known as fluorapatite) is a halide mineral composed of calcium fluoride. The most fluorine is derived from the Latin word "fluere" meaning "to flow" because the mineral has a relatively low melting point and was used as a flux in the production of glass.

C2 50 Labradorite

LABRADORITE
Labradorite's chemical composition is silicate (SiAl3Si3O10) and contains (CaAl2)2(SiO4)2. It is a member of the feldspar group of minerals. It is found in Canada, Madagascar, and other locations.

C2 53 Prehnite

PREHNITE
Prehnite is a calcium aluminum silicate mineral that crystallizes in the form of masses, globular formations and spherules. Its color is usually a yellow to light green, but can be found in blue and green. Orange Prehnite has also been found in Africa but is quite rare. It can also be found in China, Scotland, Australia, the United States, and New Zealand.

C2 55 Howlite

HOWLITE
Howlite, also known as Magnesite, has a porous texture with veins of black or dark grey and is found in cauliflower-like masses. It was first found in Nova Scotia in the 19th century by a mineralogist named Henry How. Because magnesite is soft, it can easily take on rich hues of color when dyed.

C2 57 Serpentine

SERPENTINE
Serpentine got its name from its slippery feel, green color and general appearance similar to that of a snake (serpens). Serpentine is a generic term applied to a large group of minerals being the general formula (Mg,Fe)3(Si,Al)2O7(OH)2. The M being magnesium, iron, nickel, aluminum, zinc or manganese and the Y being either iron, aluminum or vanadium.

C2 58 Rhodonite

RHODONITE
Rhodonite comes from the Greek word "rhodon" meaning "rose" due to its pink or rose red color. It is considered a silicate which are minerals containing silicon and oxygen. It usually forms as compact masses of rose, red & pink colors with black veining due to oxidation of manganese.

C2 59 Scolecite

SCOLECITE
The word Scolecite comes from the Greek word "skolekos" meaning "worm". It forms in clusters of sharp needle-like points radiating outward. When it is exposed to heat, the crystals will twist and curl up like a worm. Which makes the specimen very distinctive and unique.

C2 60 Garnet Ruby Star

STAR GARNET
The star garnet, like the garnet is an opaque brownish-red color. It is a very unusual form of garnet. The star effect is similar to the star in the star sapphire. The star appears like a six ray star and most garnets are 4 ray star. A 6 ray Garnet star is very rare. The star garnets are so rare that they are only found 2 places of the world, Northern India and India.

C2 61 Picture Jasper

PICTURE JASPER
Jasper comes from the Greek word "jaspe" meaning "spotted stone". It is a fairly rare stone that forms in extremely ancient volcanic ash beds around 100 million years ago. When Picture Jasper is cut or polished it can resemble paintings of landscapes with various colors.

C2 62 Mookaite

MOOKAITE
Mookaite is commonly known as Mookaite Jasper. It is a fossiliferous silicified porphyritic mineral which means "containing fossils within". Mookaite is composed of chert, opalite and chalcocite with beautiful colors of red, yellow, and purple.

C2 63 Ruby Zoisite

RUBY ZOISITE
Ruby zoisite is a very rare stone. It is a combination of 2 minerals green zoisite with deposits of corundum (ruby). The majority of ruby zoisite can be found in northern Tanzania, which is one of the world's largest ruby deposits.

C2 64 Green Dot Jasper

GREEN DOT JASPER
Jasper is a Micro-crystalline, which means it is a rock that contains small crystals visible only through a microscope. These crystals can be found in many colors. The green dots in green dot jasper is from iron silicate compounds found in the stone.

C2 65 Red Jasper

RED JASPER
Red Jasper, a form of chalcocite is an opaque, impure variety of silica, usually red, yellow, brown or green in color. Used as ornamentation as a gemstone, or can be highly polished. Red Jasper is basically inert which means it red color is iron inclusions. The specific gravity of jasper is typically 2.5 to 2.9. It is an opaque rock of virtually any color stemming from the mineral content of the original sediments or ash.

C2 67 Calligraphy Jasper

CALLIGRAPHY JASPER
Calligraphy Jasper is known by several names: Mexican Stone, Elephant Skin Jasper and Arabi Stone. This particular Jasper is a kind of fluidized Jaspers, bases and patterns are 4 ray star. A 6 ray Garnet star is very rare. The star garnets are so rare that they are only found 2 places of the world, Northern India and India.

C2 68 Mahogany Obsidian

MAHOGANY OBSIDIAN
Mahogany obsidian is natural glass obsidian that has inclusions of hematite, which gives it its reddish-brown color. It is also known as Mexican mahogany Obsidian can be found anywhere where volcanic activity occurs.

C2 69 Hematite

HEMATITE
Hematite comes from the Greek word "haima" meaning "blood stone". Hematite is an iron-based mineral, which chemically is the same as common rust.

C2 70 Goldstone

GOLDSTONE
Goldstone is a man-made glittered glass. It is believed to be created in a monastery in 17th century Italy by monks set out to make gold. Goldstone has been known by many names including Aventurine Glass, Gold Star and also Man's Stone.

C2 71 Obsidian

BLACK OBSIDIAN
Obsidian is a volcanic glass. It is formed from lava cooling quickly with very little crystal growth. It is named after a Roman named Obs. Because of its glassy texture, a sharp cutting edge can be formed. Obsidian was used for making cutting tools in primitive times.

C2 72 Angelite

ANGELITE
Angelite, also known as Angel Stone is made from calcium sulfate and is a form of gypsum. The stone color is a soft glaucous blue or lilac blue color. The center having snow-white flecks with brown or red colored inclusions. It is a rather recent discovery. It was discovered in Peru in 1987.

C6 Unicorn Aura Quartz

Unicorn Aura Quartz
Quartz includes a variety of different colors, or crystal quartz, is the most common. The word "CRYSTAL" comes from the Greek word for "ice" and was believed to be eternally frozen. The single quartz crystal is a six-sided prism; however, this is not always how it is formed.

Iron Pyrite, FeS<sub>2</sub>, also known as "fool's gold" resembles gold due to its brassy yellow color and metallic luster. There are some types of pyrite that contain enough microscopic gold to warrant mining as gold ore! Take your chances with the whimsical miner with his "fools gold" bottle!

Salt Products

PALLET PRICING AVAILABLE

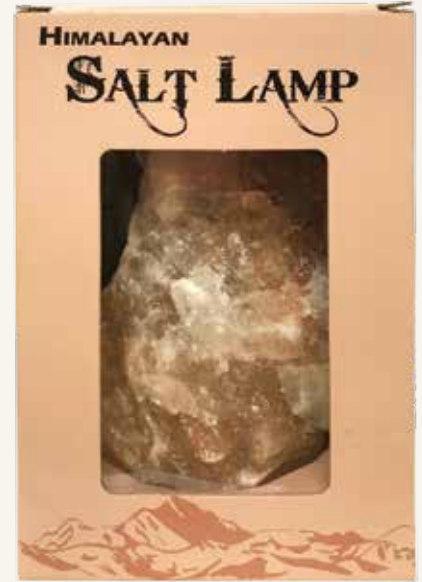

A Salt Lamp will cleanse the air in a home or office, via natural ionization. This is a natural means of improving Health. These Salt Lamps are hand made from natural rock salt found in caves in the foothills of the Himalaya Mountains. The special properties of minerals in the salt are released through heating the salt by the use of an electric bulb or from the flame of a candle. The negatively charged ions act on the contaminants in the air by neutralizing them so they can no longer circulate. This helps breathing and promotes good health. Salt Lamps will last indefinitely as long as they are not exposed to excessive moisture.

Salt Products

A Salt Lamp will cleanse the air in a home or office, via natural ionization. This is a natural means of improving Health. These Salt Lamps are hand made from natural rock salt found in caves in the foothills of the Himalaya Mountains. The special properties of minerals in the salt are released through heating the salt by the use of an electric bulb or from the flame of a candle. The negatively charged ions act on the contaminants in the air by neutralizing them so they can no longer circulate. This helps breathing and promotes good health. Salt Lamps will last indefinitely as long as they are not exposed to excessive moisture.

Thank You for your interest in Western Woods!

Western Woods was founded in 1980 by Richard and Joy McLaws in St. George, Utah. We have grown substantially throughout the years, but we still run our business based on those family values. We have worked hard and have earned the reputation of providing quality products and dependable service throughout the years. Western Woods continues to import a large variety of natural and enhanced rocks, minerals and gemstones from all over the world! In addition to rocks and minerals we have a large selection of Gemstone Jewelry, Educational products, Home Decor, and Holistic Gifts; many of which can be name dropped or customized for your store! We supply all types of specialty retailers worldwide with our products.

If you are a current customer we cannot Thank You enough for your business. If you are just browsing the catalog we hope there was something that caught your eye for your own retail store or attraction.

Please reach out to us with any questions you may have regarding Western Woods. We look forward to hearing from you.
